President's Message

Last month's Chapter meeting was held at the Liberty Hall in Kimberly, WI. I would like to thank Joe Dettlaff for volunteering to present and putting on a great presentation on HVAC Engineering Basics. I would also like to thank Tina Brueckner for her presentation (and prizes!) highlighting some of the history and also the role of regional and society level ASHRAE. The meeting was very well attended and I would like to thank all who participated.

Our December meeting will thank all past presidents for their dedication to ASHRAE. The Holiday Party will be held at Angelina's in Green Bay on December 14th. The evening is set up for cocktails from 6:00 to 7:00 pm with dinner at 7:00 pm.

Our board of governors continues to plan for the upcoming spring CRC in Green Bay. Please consider donating to the event to support ASHRAE and receive recognition for your business as well. Be sure to check our NEW chapter website for chapter and CRC updates at <http://www.newwisconsinashrae.org/>

Have a safe and joyous holiday season!

John Schuh
President, NE W ASHRAE Chapter

November General Meeting

- Location – Liberty Hall; Appleton, WI
- Start – 11:30 am
- Topic: Engineering Basics
- Speaker – Joe Dettlaff – BSA
Joe provided an in-depth analysis of calculating heating and cooling loads for a hypothetical building
- Technical presentation ended at 12:30
- Lunch from 12:30 to 1 pm
- NE Wisconsin Ashrae Chapter Business Meeting starting at 1 PM conducted by John Schuh.
 - We discussed potentially eliminating on-line meeting registration and switching to e-mail registration but a good number of members still use the on-line registration so we voted to keep that option available.
 - Tina Brueckner provide a short presentation highlighting the role of regional and society level ASHRAE. This was a very helpful preso to remind our local chapter that we are part of a larger organization.
 - We held a BOG meeting after the general meeting to perform CRC planning activities.

Become an ASHRAE volunteer

Volunteering within ASHRAE provides you with a single resource for keeping up with technical advances in the industry. By volunteering, you gain direct access to new technology, technical information available that is universally recognized as authoritative and reliable and you influence the direction of HVAC&R technology.

Volunteering also provides unique opportunities to develop communication, management and leadership skills. Because ASHRAE is a volunteer-driven organization, you cannot turn to a better source for human resource development. ASHRAE offers countless opportunities for developing potential through volunteer work on a committee or at the chapter level. Benefits of volunteering include:

- Strengthening leadership skills
- Improving technical skills and the ability to work on technical issues
- Networking
- Accessibility to resources
- Self-development and sharing of ideas

How strong is the ASHRAE volunteer network? ASHRAE has a membership of some 50,000 people from 137 countries around the world. Of those members, approximately 7,500 are active volunteers. About 2,500 Society-level volunteers serve on the Board of Directors, councils, standing committees, technical committees, standard project committees, etc., and an additional 5,000 or so serve in the regional and chapter structures. Assuming (conservatively) that each volunteer contributes an average of two hours a week, that would be 100 hours a year. Then, of course, 100 hours a year times the 7,500 volunteers gives us 750,000 person hours a year volunteer time. At a time value of $100 per hour, that's an annual value of $75 million.

Clearly, ASHRAE depends on its volunteers for its continued success in advancing HVAC&R to serve humanity and promote a sustainable world.

Volunteer for your Chapter

With more than 170 chapters around the world, volunteering at the chapter level is one of the easiest ways to take part in ASHRAE. Volunteering at the chapter level helps you develop a better understanding of how the Society functions and how to receive the most benefit from your membership while contributing to the growth of ASHRAE. For more information on how to volunteer at the chapter level, contact Steve Marthaler at 920-739-6885, or any Chapter Officer.
